FIRE HEALTH CHECK

One day conference

8 July, BRE Global, Watford

The recent incident at the Royal Marsden Hospital reminds us all of the major potential threat that fire poses to the lives and health of everyone, particularly patients.

Hospitals and healthcare premises should have fire safety strategies based on avoiding fire, rapid detection and progressive evacuation. This one-day conference will explore the need to assess and review these fire strategies, highlight the changes to Part K: Guidance on fire risk assessment in complex healthcare premises and will discuss the implications of the investigation of healthcare fires.

This one day conference will give you the opportunity to hear from the Department of Health and BRE Global experts on today's fire safety issues for hospitals.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

- Chief executives
- Estates directors and managers
- Fire safety and building control officers
- Project managers
- Fire brigades
- Fire officers
- Facilities managers
- Risk managers
- Finance and procurement managers

EXHIBITING

We are offering exhibition space (3m x 3m) for a fee of £500 (inc. vat), in return exhibitors will receive:
